

Re: A Product Design Invitation

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.electronics.design/2005-06/msg00401.html>

- From: Guy Macon <_see.web.page_@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Fri, 03 Jun 2005 15:59:26 +0000
-

Frank Bemelman wrote:

>Editing messages is the bloody limit.

....would be, if not for the fact that it isn't true.

I do thank you and Bob Stephens, though. Accusing someone of editing messages, being a Nazi, etc. is an excellent example of why someone who desires to have a civil discussion might wish to use a moderated m=newsgroup. The worse you act up the better getting away from you looks. Thanks!

• Follow-Ups:

- ◆ Re: A Product Design Invitation
◇ From: Al Borowski
- ◆ Re: A Product Design Invitation
◇ From: John Fields

• References:

- ◆ Re: A Product Design Invitation
◇ From: John Larkin
- ◆ Re: A Product Design Invitation
◇ From: Bob Stephens
- ◆ Re: A Product Design Invitation
◇ From: Frank Bemelman

- Prev by Date: Re: Generator RPM question
- Next by Date: Re: North American Ferrite core supplier for prototypes
- Previous by thread: Re: A Product Design Invitation
- Next by thread: Re: A Product Design Invitation
- Index(es):

Re: A Product Design Invitation

- ◆ Date
- ◆ Thread