

Re: PC104 to membrane keypad module

---

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.electronics.design/2005-06/msg04243.html>

---

- From: Pooh Bear <rabbitsfriendsandrelations@xxxxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Thu, 30 Jun 2005 04:43:38 +0100
-

TechGladiator wrote:

> Hello,
>
> I am trying to connect an 8x8 membrane keywitch to a PC/104 and I was > just wondering if there is a module or software available that will > allow me to quickly do this. I know I can do it with writing some > software with a 16 I/O board but I wonder if there is something out > there already.

Blimey ! PC104 ? Been a while since I heard *that* phrase !

I was in there at the beginning – there are ( were ) numerous PC104 suppliers. Are you in contact with the PC104 group, whoever runs that now ?

I'm *sure* someone makes what you need btw. That's *exactly* the area that PC104 targeted.

Graham

.

---

- References:
  - ◆ PC104 to membrane keypad module
    - ◇ From: TechGladiator
- Prev by Date: Re: The truth about decibels
- Next by Date: Re: 3 dB bandwidth
- Previous by thread: Re: PC104 to membrane keypad module
- Index(es):
  - ◆ Date
  - ◆ Thread