Jim, you've met me and you know that's a bunch of unadulterated CRAP.

I was born a 4th generation Californian to poor parents and earned every penny painfully over a long hard work life. I didn't even come to New England until my 22nd year. Elite, slemeete! Keith's stupid mud-slinging "blue-blood" pejorative (whatever that means), and the asinine "limousine liberal" smear (invented by New York tightwads to win an election, and dishonestly applied to me), is a good example of the lying habits of the new far right wing, as they seek to perform a character assassination on every person who steps forward to condemn their idiotic revered leader, George W Bush - the polls say over 60% of us in the U.S. disapprove of Bush! My true character is revealed in the over 10,000 posts I've made over 10 years on s.e.d., and those who have read many of them know the personal attacks against me for the lying stinking P.O.S. they are. If it wasn't for my well-known antipathy for GWB, the intensely-ugly lies, smears, and character assassinations I've endured in the last year would not have happened. What does that say about those who engage in it? This isn't about my character, which was well received for 9 years, it's about silencing my message. Evidently my factual comments are striking a nerve.
