

Re: Lunacy from Brussels

Source: <http://sci.tech--archive.net/Archive/sci.electronics.design/2005-10/msg01867.html>

- From: zwsdotcom@xxxxxxxxxx
 - Date: 14 Oct 2005 04:48:26 -0700
-

> Since the "bullshit doomed social programs" actually make you richer in > the long term – none of us make money from a sick and ill-educated

Oh God, few tortures worse than an unrestrained liberal.

I wouldn't complain about my tax burden if it went into useful, forward-looking and enriching things like the space program.

> www.amazon.co.uk. You can now buy via www.amazon.com, but only from > associated sellers – Amazon presumably can't be seen to endorse a book > that suggests that the U.S. is in any way less than perfect (though

Ah yes, and if I buy a copy, the black helicopters will presumably intercept the UPS truck before the book can reach my door. Ever considered the possibility that this book is hard to come by because the all-hemp organic binding and long hair protruding from between the vegan pages set off controlled substance alerts?

-
- Follow-Ups:
 - ◆ Re: Lunacy from Brussels
◇ From: bill . sloman

- References:
 - ◆ Re: Lunacy from Brussels
◇ From: bill . sloman
 - ◆ Re: Lunacy from Brussels
◇ From: zwsdotcom
 - ◆ Re: Lunacy from Brussels
◇ From: bill . sloman

- Prev by Date: Re: Distributed microcontroller computing
- Next by Date: Re: circuit design help: momentary switch activates/cancels electronic switch
- Previous by thread: Re: Lunacy from Brussels
- Next by thread: Re: Lunacy from Brussels
- Index(es):

Re: Lunacy from Brussels

- ◆ Date
- ◆ Thread