

Re: Lunacy from Brussels

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.electronics.design/2005-10/msg01988.html>

- From: bill.sloman@xxxxxxxx
 - Date: 14 Oct 2005 16:45:19 -0700
-

zwsdotcom@xxxxxxxx wrote:

- >> Since the "bullshit doomed social programs" actually make you richer in
- >> the long term – none of us make money from a sick and ill-educated
- >
- > Oh God, few tortures worse than an unrestrained liberal.
- >
- > I wouldn't complain about my tax burden if it went into useful,
- > forward-looking and enriching things like the space program.

Sucker. Support your local pork-barrel.

- >> www.amazon.co.uk. You can now buy via www.amazon.com, but only from
- >> associated sellers – Amazon presumably can't be seen to endorse a book
- >> that suggests that the U.S. is in any way less than perfect (though
- >
- > Ah yes, and if I buy a copy, the black helicopters will presumably
- > intercept the UPS truck before the book can reach my door. Ever
- > considered the possibility that this book is hard to come by because
- > the all-hemp organic binding and long hair protruding from between the
- > vegan pages set off controlled substance alerts?

It is a perfectly ordinary book – perhaps a bit heavy on the academic references, as Will Hutton seems to see his role as popularising academic economic research. I've seen it sold at airports, where any trace of controlled substance in the binding would probably have excited the sniffer dogs no end.

The sort of brain-washed attitude that you are exemplifying isn't built up by teams of armed men in black helicopters, but by years of the sort of steady, small-scale mis-information which leads you to see any effort to raise the educational standards of your low income groups as bleeding heart liberalism, rather than economic development.

Show some self-interested greed, rather than wasting your time repeating right-wing mantras.

Bill Sloman, Nijmegen

- Follow-Ups:

- ◆ Re: Lunacy from Brussels
◇ From: zwsdotcom

- References:

- ◆ Re: Lunacy from Brussels
◇ From: bill . sloman
- ◆ Re: Lunacy from Brussels
◇ From: zwsdotcom
- ◆ Re: Lunacy from Brussels
◇ From: bill . sloman
- ◆ Re: Lunacy from Brussels
◇ From: zwsdotcom

- Prev by Date: Re: Audio Delay Circuit

- Next by Date: Re: circuit design help: momentary switch activates/cancels electronic switch

- Previous by thread: Re: Lunacy from Brussels

- Next by thread: Re: Lunacy from Brussels

- Index(es):

- ◆ Date
- ◆ Thread