

Re: Strip board?

Source: <http://sci.tech--archive.net/Archive/sci.electronics.design/2005-10/msg03360.html>

- From: Pooh Bear <rabbitsfriendsandrelations@xxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Mon, 24 Oct 2005 00:25:48 +0100
-

Ignoramus4371 wrote:

> Bill mentioned a strip board, which I kind of liked as an idea for > implementation of the final circuit. (due to mentioned issue of > contacts in breadboard going bad after a while). I looked for it on > ebay and only found some UK items. Is it called differently in the US?

Veroboard is the preferred UK name (even though that's like calling all vacuum cleaners Hoovers).

Graham

.

- Prev by Date: Re: voltage regulation through zener
- Next by Date: Re: info on the magnetic stripe smart card reader
- Previous by thread: Re: Strip board?
- Next by thread: Re: Strip board?
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread