

Re: diode curve

Source: <http://sci.tech--archive.net/Archive/sci.electronics.design/2005-11/msg01154.html>

- From: Winfield Hill <Winfield_member@xxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: 12 Nov 2005 15:28:23 -0800
-

Genome wrote...

- >
- > The phone is not my own and the landlord has chopped and changed
- > suppliers.
- >
- > The last one which he is with at the moment went and registered
- > the number with the thing that says 'Don't Phone To Sell'.....
- >
- > That is a pretty clever move on their part.....
- >
- > As I explained to the last Indian Girly that phoned.
- >
- > "Excuse me, if you check the relevant authority then you will
- > find that this number is whitelisted for cold calling"
- >
- > "Mingle mingle Sir, Your number is on our database"
- >
- > "That is not my problem, you should check the relevant database
- > and update your records. At the moment you are committing and
- > offence by calling this number and offering unsolicited services"
- >
- >
- > Silence
- >
- >
- > "I am sorry Sir" Click

Much too complicated and time consuming. It's much faster to politely interrupt the caller in the 2nd sentence, or as soon as you detect the nature of the call, "Excuse me sir, but would you kindly remove us from your calling list?" This elicits an immediate, "Yes, of course." At which point you may hang up, or if you're feeling generous, say "Thank you," and hang up.

--
Thanks,
- Win

- Follow-Ups:
 - ◆ Re: diode curve
 - ◇ From: Barry Lennox
 - ◆ Re: diode curve
 - ◇ From: Andrew

- References:
 - ◆ diode curve
 - ◇ From: John Larkin
 - ◆ Re: diode curve
 - ◇ From: Genome
 - ◆ Re: diode curve
 - ◇ From: John Larkin
 - ◆ Re: diode curve
 - ◇ From: Genome

- Prev by Date: Re: diode curve
- Next by Date: Re: From an audio forum... FR4 question
- Previous by thread: Re: diode curve
- Next by thread: Re: diode curve
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread