

Re: Ha. Low end ethernet routers

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.electronics.design/2005-12/msg01431.html>

- From: Joerg <notthisjoergsch@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Mon, 12 Dec 2005 00:31:51 GMT
-

Hello Andy,

And no I can't remember offhand who does it now (it was one of the usual suspects though) but the XP only thing put me off pursuing the matter.

That would put me off as well. No MS-centric stuff in this location.

One day you might understand the commercial benefits of using microsoft.

We do use a few MS product where it makes sense. But only products that are mature enough to have the least amount of bugs. Some never seem to mature. For example, MS-Word crashes regularly and has never reached the quality level of their DOS-Word. Maybe it never will.

Mostly you have alternatives. Word may be the next in line to be dumped here. With their spreadsheet and database I can't complain though.

Regards, Joerg

<http://www.analogconsultants.com>

.