

Re: Telephone compatibility

Source: <http://sci.tech--archive.net/Archive/sci.electronics.design/2006-01/msg04512.html>

- From: Ian Stirling <root@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: 25 Jan 2006 17:56:32 GMT
-

Weinberger Hans <weinberger@xxxxxxx> wrote:

<snip>

> So you think that one would work anywhere in the world? What model > is your alarm?

It's gonna vary.

Dialtones vary dramatically the world over.

Some modem chipsets, which some alarms are going to be using to dial, check for dialtone.

If you need to know, ask the manufacturer.

.

• References:

- ◆ Telephone compatibility
 - ◇ From: Weinberger Hans
 - ◆ Re: Telephone compatibility
 - ◇ From: Ian Stirling
 - ◆ Re: Telephone compatibility
 - ◇ From: Weinberger Hans
 - ◆ Re: Telephone compatibility
 - ◇ From: Ian Stirling
 - ◆ Re: Telephone compatibility
 - ◇ From: Jim Thompson
 - ◆ Re: Telephone compatibility
 - ◇ From: Weinberger Hans
-
- Prev by Date: Re: Full Bridge SMPS With High No Load Voltage?
 - Next by Date: Re: Parts Storage
 - Previous by thread: Re: Telephone compatibility
 - Next by thread: Re: Telephone compatibility
 - Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread