

Re: O.T. Things are getting ugly out there.

Re: O.T. Things are getting ugly out there.

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.electronics.design/2006-02/msg03574.html>

- From: Terry Given <my_name@xxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Tue, 21 Feb 2006 11:33:45 +1300
-

Spehro Pefhany wrote:

On Tue, 21 Feb 2006 10:46:55 +1300, the renowned Terry Given <my_name@xxxxxxxx> wrote:

John Larkin wrote:

On Mon, 20 Feb 2006 08:25:40 -0500, Spehro Pefhany <speffSNIP@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote:

On Mon, 20 Feb 2006 12:56:38 GMT, the renowned Fred Bloggs <nospam@xxxxxxxx> wrote:

Spehro Pefhany wrote:

On Sun, 19
Feb 2006
20:27:32
GMT, the renowned
Fred Bloggs
<nospam@xxxxxxxx>
wrote:

Re: O.T. Things are getting ugly out there.

What
astonishes
me
is that ppl
would actually view
porn in public
view.

These
are not your ordinary
"people"
and
nothing astonishes
anybody
over
here.
There
was a recent incident
locally
where an individual
was caught performing a self-sexual act
at the library
computer.
They
do
make arrests
in

Re: O.T. Things are getting ugly out there.

Re: O.T. Things are getting ugly out there.

that
case—
not considered
an inherent Constitutional
right
just yet.

Talk about
repressing
his
"self-expression"!

Best
regards,
Spehro
Pefhany

It was a dumb 19yo male—his name, address, and picture was plastered all over the newspaper. Maybe he was emulating Peanuts or Peabrain or whomever...

Peabrain lost his career. If this d*rk had an agent or high-profile lawyer and was reasonably presentable & entertaining he could probably create a show-biz career from this arrest.

Here's Aussie self-expression being threatened:

<http://www.abc.net.au/news/newsitems/200602/s1574071.htm>

Is waving, or even owning, a Nazi flag "self expression" in France or Germany?

Re: O.T. Things are getting ugly out there.

Re: O.T. Things are getting ugly out there.

One can write or speak a single 4–word sentence [1] in Germany, one that threatens nobody, and be imprisoned.

John

[1] well, it would be four words in English. It might well be one 63–letter word in German.

I presume you mean "there was no holocaust" or words to that effect.

HD david irving just got himself arrested for having said that in Austria in 1989.

Sentenced to 3 years in prison. A blow to the pro–genocide crowd, I'm sure.

Best regards, Spehro Pefhany

I just saw that. To be honest I dont know why they bother; he does a good enough job of making himself look like an idiot.

Cheers

Terry

.