That's VERY common around here.

However, I have a method which seems to (somewhat) sort out the legals from the illegals... "Do you have a checking account? Show me your checkbook."

Tomorrow should be an interesting news day.

Also, I just could care less about 'illegal' aliens: If you didn't come here to blow up something up or kill someone, you are not even on my radar. Its not so much a question of legality, it a question of priority.

Its also interesting that no one seems to mind all of 'illegal' Canadians who live here.
