

Re: randomized white noise = white noise?

Re: randomized white noise = white noise?

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.electronics.design/2006-05/msg04689.html>

- From: acannell@xxxxxxx
 - Date: 26 May 2006 10:57:12 -0700
-

I tried scaling it by dividing the final number by 10. And now the spectra of the output appears to be a straight 3db slope! now I am going to try it with more coefficients and see how good it gets.
noise[sampnum] = (b0 + b1 + b2 + white * 0.1848) / 10;

.