Axis of evil anybody?

Iran and North Korea are huggable teddy bears?

Until that stupid demonisation of Iran with the Axis of Evil speech and much similar since, Iran was on the road to proper democracy.

You're joking, right? Any candidate for office in Iran, who suggests too much democracy, is forbidden to run by the mullahs. The lid is clamped down tightly on democracy, and won't be lifted incrementally. Some day it may blow off.

The USA single handedly has put back that process. I well recall cringeing when I heard that statement.

So, what's the better way to treat Iran and North Korea? Talk nice and keep selling them centrifuge parts?

The consequences were utterly predictable.

Consequences are always predictable when they'd already happened.
