

Re: Liquid explosives

---

Source: <http://sci.tech--archive.net/Archive/sci.electronics.design/2006-08/msg02048.html>

---

- From: xray <notreally@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Sun, 13 Aug 2006 01:44:48 -0700
-

On 12 Aug 2006 22:03:57 GMT, Jim Yanik <jyanik@xxxxxxxxxx> wrote:

It's simply denial of reality.
The lib/dem/socialists hate Bush so much they've lost touch with real life.

No, no.

Bush is clearly the dumbest, most inarticulate president that I have seen in my lifetime (at least 10 that I can remember). This is simple truth.

If you cannot see that, I must say that you are denying reality.

Now, there is also the politics.

The BBC show (that was the thread context) really didn't center on Bush. He was incidental in the gang of scumbags they talked about.

If you are reading this, John W , you said...
"That was rubbish when it was broadcast 20 months ago, and it still is. 9/11 and 7/7 weren't figments of our imagination, you know!"

But most of what I had time to watch of the show was about how a whole group of people who came into power in our US central government and have ultimately made the strategic decisions that got us where we are. Seems the real terrorist threat was just an occurrence that enabled them to do what they already wanted before.

.