

Re: electronics design

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.electronics.design/2006-12/msg05137.html>

- From: John Fields <jfields@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Fri, 29 Dec 2006 06:56:41 -0800
-

On 28 Dec 2006 19:36:27 -0800, "carmanz" <liliansoldana@xxxxxxxxxx> wrote:

Hi my name is pat and the nickname is carmanz, and I just started on this website with google.

My concern that I want to have a better understanding on this, also I would really like the support that you guys can give me out there.

Any to make the story short what I was gaining is the information on how to advertise my business on the internet and I feel that the support of you guys can give me a tip on how to do this.

It is the first time for me into this kind of thing and I really want to do the best I can.

As I was going over this information on the google account I noticed that there is a lot to learn on this website.

Any way the kind of business I started to do is to sell and give the buyers the best deal around.

Also there is the promotion that comes daily of this business that I do. It offers a great deal and the discount is great. To me I think knowing the business you are into and let the buyers know that you are doing a right kind of business. My understanding on doing a business at home is something that you are willing to do and have the time that you need to learn more on what you do.

I would like to also say that me being a seller and giving the best deal around it is my duty as a person that I want to share whatever it takes for the customer to feel good on what they purchase.

I want to give the thank you for the time that you took and reading what I express myself I hope in the near future that we can work together and be a team and give each other support.

Re: electronics design

Pat:

This isn't a website, it's a USENET newsgroup you're accessing via the web through Google Groups. Our purpose is to discuss politics and religion, to post recipes and, on occasion, to discuss the design and operation of electronic circuits. We usually take a dim view of sales pitches and consider them SPAM. Welcome aboard. :-)

P.S. The custom here is to bottom post.

—
JF

.