On a sunny day (7 Feb 2007 14:40:18 -0800) it happened "skenn_ie" <skenn_ie@xxxxxxxxxx> wrote in <1170888018.356351.93940@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>:

Well now, considering that the US of A was built on taking whatever people wanted, if necessary, by force. The Europeans slaughtered the native Americans, then herded, and coralled them in the worst areas, invaded Mexico, then anexed the best bits..Texas, and S CA, they walzed into Hawaii, and claimed it as theirs. The only bit the aquired legitimately was Alaska, which they bought from Russia.

They imported african labour, then(and still) a good chunk of the population of European origin want them to go back. The US of A has f(*&ed up in Cambodia, Korea, Vietnam, Angola(amongst other African states, albeit with the assistance of the USSR), Grenada, Nicaragua(suppressing a democratically elected government), Iran, sponsored Sadam in the early years, and are now proceeding to mak a total dogs dinner of Iraq, all the while, supporting one of the most brutal, and undemocratic regimes(Saudi Arabia), and vetoeing all international attempts to make Israel behave in a reasonable manner. American money pays for weapons, and worst, continues to build settlements in the occupied territories, where there is a 50 year-old UN resolution telling them to get out.

Do you expect ANY sympathy from the rest of the world when you have problems ?.

Good posting.

But it is human nature.

Everybody is doing it, and has been doing it since King Kong the Apeman ruled.

Caesar... Alexander the Great, Napoleon, Djengis Kahn.....

So at this moment US is still very powerful, with nuclear submarines.

As soon as they have untested new nukes in these, then China will be most powerful perhaps, and conquer more space.

Not one super power civilisation yet has lasted tough.

Re: Letter-to-the-Editor

Then they will grab space, planets, see how nervous the Chinese made Washington when they shot down one of their own weather satellites?
US without sats is like Caesar without swords.

So much for high tech and 'security'.
Think GPS, couple of space hits and nothing works and nobody knows where they are, no missile can find its target...
