How does get everything wrong? Wouldn't it be hard to do even on purpose?

That seems like a paradox, until you consider that, for any given issue, there is only one "right" but an infinitude of "wrongs".

Since he's angry at everyone else and thinks we're all retards, and since most people who post here are generally knowledgable, he preferentially picks the wrong answers. So, without knowing much about the science itself, he is effectively able to be wrong on purpose.

Plus, he craves public humiliation.
