

Re: Evil Designers Guide to Copying Patents

Source: <http://sci.tech--archive.net/Archive/sci.electronics.design/2007-03/msg06391.html>

- From: MassiveProng <MassiveProng@xx>
 - Date: Fri, 23 Mar 2007 23:33:46 -0700
-

On Fri, 23 Mar 2007 22:07:45 -0800, John Larkin
<jjlarkin@xx> Gave us:

On Fri, 23 Mar 2007 21:41:29 -0700, MassiveProng
<MassiveProng@xx> wrote:

On Fri, 23 Mar 2007 15:49:47 -0700, John Larkin
<jjlarkin@xx> Gave us:

Businesses are run by people, and all people have their own ethics.
IBM has a history of ethical behavior (and good products),
and
Microsoft has a history of dishonesty and ruthlessness (and crap.)

And you have a history od spewing horseshit and bullshit.

I have a history of designing electronics.

Your remarks have no foundation or basis in fact.

IBM reamed the banking industry for decades. Doesn't matter that they had SOME good products.

Billy is just a shrewd businessman that chumps like you are jealous of. Tell us of his "dishonesty". You are just likely pissed off that some of your earnings needs to be used to make you gear attached to your computers do things like spit out invoices and shipper tags. Nice forte agent you got there. If you are so pissed off, why isn't your home, as well as your office computers all running another OS?

Re: Evil Designers Guide to Copying Patents

You are a fucking hypocrite. This week in particular.