

Re: high end multimeters, part II

---

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.electronics.design/2007-04/msg04580.html>

---

- From: Esther & Fester Bestertester <not@xxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Fri, 20 Apr 2007 18:14:30 GMT
-

Hi there – a while ago I made a thread about recommendations for high end multimeters. I ended up deciding to get the Fluke 189/FVF2. I put in my order for it last week, and just heard back from Fluke (I am buying direct through them) that it is no longer being made!!! Apparently, the 189 needs some special custom IC that they have run out of stock of, and for whatever reason cannot get more stock of. So they're just killing the line.

Does this apply to the 187? (187 = 198 without logging)

.