Hi,

I am Abramo Pavan and I am TechPapers.org Webmaster (www.techpapers.org), a new open source project that has three main purpose: give to all authors of relevant scientific/cultural documentation the possibility to publish their works, give to all web users the possibility to signal web links to great papers or documents and finally offer to everybody a reference point to found technical and academic documentation in a fast and affidabile way.

Project is totally open source so it's free publish,signal and download documents.

To create docs data base we need as help as possible from web users and that's why we ask you to visit our site and publish/signal your papers and docs.

Thank you in advance for your help!
