

Re: Wow, first lead-free victim: Microsoft Xbox 1 billion damage

Re: Wow, first lead-free victim: Microsoft Xbox 1 billion damage

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.electronics.design/2007-07/msg01669.html>

- From: Jan Panteltje <pNaonStpealmtje@xxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Thu, 12 Jul 2007 17:58:27 GMT
-

On a sunny day (Thu, 12 Jul 2007 17:30:54 GMT) it happened Joerg <notthisjoergsch@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in <iztli.38508$Um6.27279@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>:

Got an answer to my email already. Wow, that's impressive service. They must be working late over there.

Anyhow, they wrote back that it is indeed as I had thought. No hard data available. The lead-free solder issue is nothing more than an assumption since MS did not reveal root causes.

OK, so I do not have to worry about other new stuff I am buying falling apart.... Yes, it is known MS does not reveal details, I have read a transcript of the MS conference where they acknowledged the problem and extended the warrantee.

Did they mention who 'the experts' were?

.