

Re: Fossett plane sighting another false lead

Re: Fossett plane sighting another false lead

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.electronics.design/2007-09/msg01954.html>

- From: Fred Bloggs <nospam@xxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Tue, 11 Sep 2007 15:06:55 -0400
-

Jim Thompson wrote:

On Tue, 11 Sep 2007 07:42:33 -0400, Fred Bloggs <nospam@xxxxxxxxxxx>
wrote:

Genome wrote:

On Sep 10, 1:08 am, Winfield <winfieldh...@xxxxxxxxxxx>
wrote:

<http://news.google.com/nwshp?tab=wn&ncl=1120336231&hl=en>

"Rescue crews today headed to another potential sighting of Steve Fossett's plane, however they failed to find the famous aviator who has now been missing for a week."

<http://www.stuff.co.nz/4196814a12.html>

We can all spend some time searching. Download Google Earth, and start looking. <http://earth.google.com/>

The sighters were looking too close to the little airstrip in Smith valley. I looked at Google's new images, further to the east at 39 23 23.82N 117 57 35.12W Should I report this location?

Re: Fossett plane sighting another false lead

I heard about this bloke on the news and, given the interest, I had a Google and found out he made his money on the stockmarket as a trader meaning he raped proper people for their money and then went on dangerous holidays with the proceeds.

No, not the stock market, he was a commodities trader, which is even worse, actually, way, way worse. But you're right, when I read that, I also said good riddens to him. It's only fitting he should end up being devoured by parasites himself.

What is this intense hate of success? Another fucking commie?

...Jim Thompson

It's not an intense hatred of success. The commodities market traders are grand stand thieves engaging in insider trading, collusion, and conspiracies to steal billions of dollars from investors for decades. I don't call Fossett a success.

.