

Re: OT: Eudora a good alternative to Thunderbird?

Re: OT: Eudora a good alternative to Thunderbird?

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.electronics.design/2007-10/msg01813.html>

- From: jrwalliker@xxxxxxxxxx
 - Date: Wed, 10 Oct 2007 13:59:35 -0700
-

Eudora now says on the site that the no-nagware version (paid) is no longer being sold. Does this mean Eudora may be going away?

Eudora are planning on releasing their code as open source – I don't

The free version now has no adverts, so you can just use that (as I do).

Eudora are not planning to release the code, but the original Eudora developers will be developing the open source "lookalike" – which also gets a new name – Penelope!

John

.