

Re: For all the Americans to watch..

Re: For all the Americans to watch..

Source: <http://sci.tech--archive.net/Archive/sci.electronics.design/2007-12/msg02528.html>

- From: krw <krw@xxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Sun, 16 Dec 2007 19:06:33 -0500
-

In article <4765B39A.DCF43480@xxxxxxxxxxxx>, sci.electronics.design, rabbitsfriendsandrelations@xxxxxxxxxxxx says...

ChairmanOfTheBored wrote:

Eeyore wrote:

ChairmanOfTheBored wrote:

Eeyore wrote:

Richard Henry wrote:

"Eeyore"
wrote

ChairmanOfTheBored
wrote:

How much do you want to bet
that he was not ever approached by any LEO

Re: For all the Americans to watch..

regarding his actions?

Or
better, how much bet
that he was offered a handshake and a pat on the back as opposed
to an apprehension?

Apparently
it happened
a couple of months
ago,
so presumably we don't need
to guess.

"
The Reno
police department has told

Re: For all the Americans to watch..

krmv
that Brossert
will faces charges for theft
if the store
owner
files
a police report
of what happened.
"

<http://thevoice.name/?p=3822>

Since
it's a civil matter
that figures.
It's
down
to
the store
owner.

"Charges of theft" is not a civil matter.

Without a theft being reported, where's the crime ?

Do you think the news piece being BROADCAST was something other than a "report", idiot?

Re: For all the Americans to watch..

What was broadcast was a video showing a guy taking a flag.

It's not THEFT until it's shown that it wasn't his legally to take.

You're a goddamned retard.

Despite all the times I have ever said this, you have now confirmed it completely as fact.

YOU'RE the one who doesn't understand the legal requirements for a charge of theft it would seem.

No, dumb donkey, you refuse to understand that a theft is the taking of property, not the reporting of that theft.

The guy cutting the flag down could have been arrested on suspicion of theft, but without clear proof the flag belonged to someone else, the case would fail.

Wrong. It's unlikely anyone would prosecute without a police report, but that's an administrative issue not a legal one.

--
Keith

.