The 2008 International Conference on High Performance Computing, Networking and Communication Systems (HPCNCS-08) (website: www.PromoteResearch.org) will be held during July 7-10 2008 in Orlando, FL, USA. We invite draft paper submissions and the deadline is extended until February 19 2008 due to several requests from the authors.

The conference will be held at the same time and place where several major events (please see below) are taking place. The website contains more details.
