

Re: OT: firewall program

Source: <http://sci.tech--archive.net/Archive/sci.electronics.design/2008-03/msg04622.html>

- From: nico@xxxxxxxxxxx (Nico Coesel)
 - Date: Thu, 27 Mar 2008 19:35:17 GMT
-

"Michael A. Terrell" <mike.terrell@xxxxxxxxxxx> wrote:

Nico Coesel wrote:

To Michael: Please post the film on Youtube when you are giving an old 486 PC to someone 'in need'. We can all see and laugh about how fast you run away to avoid the PC being thrown at you :-) Been there done that...

Gee, some people only want email. As long as they can get on line they don't care. They might spend a whole hour a month on a free dialup account.

As far as running? I don't, because I can't. I already fall enough, without trying to commit suicide.

I also have a couple of obsolete "mail stations" that allow people to do email and browse with a proprietary OS that has no hard drive.

Just because you want something fancier doesn't concern someone who needs to go online to refill their prescriptions. Just wait, there will

You've got me all wrong. I already tried to furnish people with decent second hand computers. It just doesn't work. People want the latest & gratest for no money at all. You'll get nothing but angry faces and lost friendships.

or because your family has taken control of your finances and refuse to let you buy anything. If you think this is funny, you can

Hey, I'm married so that already happened :-)

Re: OT: firewall program

Programmeren in Almere?

E-mail naar nico@nctdevpunt.nl (punt=.)

.