

Re: OT: "The Amazing Randi", of all people, has swallowed the GW dogma:

Re: OT: "The Amazing Randi", of all people, has swallowed the GW dogma:

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.electronics.design/2008-07/msg01033.html>

- From: John Popelish <jpopelish@xxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Tue, 08 Jul 2008 13:16:04 -0400
-

John Larkin wrote:

Why do plants have so many leaves? And why do they use such a tiny fraction of available solar energy?

Because they weren't designed, but evolved. Once they got good enough there was little pressure to improve. Other problems are bigger for plants.

Besides, once plants evolved from absorbing only one wavelength to absorbing two, they became smug and self satisfied.

—

Regards,

John Popelish

.