Funny you set off garbage detectors throughout this NG (SED). Several have killfiled you over your garbage. None have announced it. But check it out, fewer and fewer people in SED respond to you any more.

Speak for your self, every one else has their own voice, or have you decided to step in and include them in your little imaginary world?

If what I say seems so upsetting to you, why are you wasting such precious time reading my post? It would appear that instigation is more of the agenda here, wouldn't you say?

I find those that think they can speak for others, assuming others are actually siding with such person, very distasteful.

It just show's the state of one's trust.

Maybe a little more research into reasons why people do what they do, before putting your foot into holes where it does not belong, would yield better fruit..

You'd be surprised how many actions were/are warranted.

Now, let me speak for my self and not for others!

Buzz off.

And don't bother in replying to this, it'll just prove the ignorance in your character, which is suspect at this point.

I didn't speak for others, i observed their behavior. Since you cannot grasp that it is your problem.

You would think that a 'programmer' could at least create a valid sigfile. His illiteracy knows no bounds. :(

Ok, the fact that I haven't bothered you unprovoked and you have just stepped in an decided to instigate, proves beyond the doubt, the validity of my prior statements.

I was only trying to be neighborly, You want a signature file, weep the rewards. Do you really think I should be instituting SF's ?
