I just found a hp officejet 4110 all-in-one printer-fax-scanner-copier on the street in a pile of trash. It didn't have a printer cable; all I have is the device itself.

USB cable? Dollar store?

It has 3 sockets that look like they take:

- (1) phone jack
- (2) power cord
- (3) I don't know. The symbol next to it looks something like the symbol for a USB connector but there are 4 prongs in in the almost square hole, not at all like the USB receptor for my flash drive.

I'd see if it works before trashing it for parts. It may just need new ink – eBay.

I'm running RH 7.1 Linux and it has no driver for this printer. The hp website doesn't have a Linux driver for it. So, there is no chance of my using it as a printer in the near future, even if I did feel up to trying to buy ink for it.
