

Re: Beovision 8800 no spot killer

---

Source: <http://sci.tech--archive.net/Archive/sci.electronics.repair/2005-05/msg01049.html>

---

- From: "Phimor" <panda101@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: 17 May 2005 00:24:53 -0700
-

Thank you Rono,

I will try changing more of the electrolytics. I changed one that looked obviously like a culprit and had to re-adjust the brightness...so it did something.

I thought a set of the calibre of this B&O would have some kind of 'spot killer'..

Cheers

Philippe

.

---

• References:

- ◆ Beovision 8800 no spot killer
  - ◇ From: Phimor
- ◆ Re: Beovision 8800 no spot killer
  - ◇ From: Rono
- Prev by Date: Re: BO Beovision 8800 – no spot killer
- Next by Date: Re: Tecumseh vs. Briggs, was Re: Lawnmower idle question
- Previous by thread: Re: Beovision 8800 no spot killer
- Next by thread: Replacing coax in RV camper etc??
- Index(es):
  - ◆ Date
  - ◆ Thread