

Re: HP 3200m

---

Source: <http://sci.tech--archive.net/Archive/sci.electronics.repair/2005-06/msg01682.html>

---

- From: "nvic" <nvic@xxxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: 29 Jun 2005 18:08:10 -0700
-

Yes you should have it fixed – if you get it fixed it will probably last a long time again. HP is very reliable when you don't expose the products to surges. If you end up replacing this unit, buy another HP.

One Last note: install one of those six plugs with phone protection so it won't get nuked again

.

---

- References:
  - ◆ HP 3200m
    - ◇ From: jakdedert
- Prev by Date: Re: HP 3200m
- Next by Date: Re: Wanted: A Very Accurate Timer
- Previous by thread: Re: HP 3200m
- Next by thread: NAP PTV915
- Index(es):
  - ◆ Date
  - ◆ Thread