

Re: 50 hz timer motor

Source: <http://sci.tech--archive.net/Archive/sci.electronics.repair/2005-11/msg00957.html>

- From: etphonehm@xxxxxxxxxx
 - Date: 16 Nov 2005 07:52:20 -0800
-

Ron, on the timer sequence diagram, it shows the pre-wash, wash, rinse, extra rinse, spin, dry and stop events, but not the drain event. If it's a timed event, I would expect that on the event sequence. Or unless it's implied/built-in under the wash and rinse events??

Ron(UK) wrote:

- > The drain cycles are just a timed event once the pressure switch opens.
 - > If the water hasnt gone when the timer comes to move on, most machines
 - > will stop. I am of course relating to UK machines here, I imagine a
 - > machine for the French market will be the same.
 - >
 - > I think neither of these things have any relevance to the machines problem.
 - >
 - > Ron
- .
-

• Follow-Ups:

- ◆ Re: 50 hz timer motor
◇ From: Ron(UK)

• References:

- ◆ 50 hz timer motor
◇ From: etphonehm
- ◆ Re: 50 hz timer motor
◇ From: Sam Goldwasser
- ◆ Re: 50 hz timer motor
◇ From: Ron(UK)
- ◆ Re: 50 hz timer motor
◇ From: Sam Goldwasser
- ◆ Re: 50 hz timer motor
◇ From: etphonehm
- ◆ Re: 50 hz timer motor
◇ From: Sam Goldwasser
- ◆ Re: 50 hz timer motor

Re: 50 hz timer motor

◇ From: Ron(UK)

- Prev by Date: Re: RCA Model P52756SB (CTC169 chassis) HZ lines
- Next by Date: Re: 50 hz timer motor
- Previous by thread: Re: 50 hz timer motor
- Next by thread: Re: 50 hz timer motor
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread