Guys, i'm new here and want to contribute so i thought i'd start with a post about my free wii which i got on launch day. Basically back in october i signed up to one of those free giveaway websites where you have to sign people up under you and then the company send you a free something or other. All i did was get a few of my mates to sign up, i needed 10 for a wii, some of them wouldn't do it – a crispy £5 note sorted that out though, and in about two weeks i had enough referrals to claim my free wii. So i submitted my form to get my Free Wii and within a day i had conformation of when i would get the Wii! To my absolute suprise and delight that day was release day!

So on rolled the 8th December and it actually turned up! City Link delivered it before 1pm and i had my self a free wii on release day!

I thought i'd share my experience with everyone here so check out my site, its dead basic and a bit lame at the moment but it's just explaining how to get a free Wii.

Click on the links on the page to get taken to the Free Wii site which i got my free wii from. I'm trying to get another one for my girlfriend so if you do want to get a free wii please click on the links throughout the page to get re-directed to my referral page on the Free Wii site so i can get a few more referalls. I only need 4 more at the moment!

It's easy and fun!
Check it out!
