

Re: Repairman's knot

Source: <http://sci.tech--archive.net/Archive/sci.electronics.repair/2007-03/msg01506.html>

- From: "Arfa Daily" <arfa.daily@xxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Thu, 29 Mar 2007 10:05:50 GMT
-

"jim menning" <jmenningSPAM@xxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message news:460b2037\$0\$4904\$4c368faf@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

"Arfa Daily" <arfa.daily@xxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
news:25EOh.9827\$Kk5.4192@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

So to Jim Menning, and you Mr Brodbeck, if all that makes me "not a good guy", and one of "the jerks", then sobeit. All I did, as I always do, is try to help the guy. All I wanted was a civil response. It was only after the less than polite (in my opinion) responses that I received from the OP, that I got annoyed.

But hey--ho. Bad day now over. Tomorrow's another day ...

Arfa

I gave you the opportunity to prove you were a good guy, and not one of the jerks.

You made an unnecessary reference to "the Americans" in your response here. A more proper statement would have been that other "well-intentioned responders" were confused. Rather than drag nationalities into the equation, how about just clearing up the confusion that you claim exists? Providing the pictures to a common location could have enlightened all.

But the real bottom line here is: Did you follow up to make the pictures available?

Again, here's the challenge: Prove to us you are the "good guy" as you initially appeared to be.

Re: Repairman's knot

Thank you.

Please don't get going on the race issue. I see enough of that rubbish in this country already.

Someone once made the observation that the UK and America are two countries divided by a common language, and this would seem to be proving that. I visit America frequently, and have done for many many years, so I am able to speak and understand your variety of the language fluently, which is why I understood that what this UK based poster was asking, was being misunderstood, by more than one person from your side of the water.

The reference was not unnecessary to the explanation, and I can't understand how you could possibly take offence at your countrymen being referred to by the nationality that they are. So let's get that point totally straight, right off. I have ABSOLUTELY NOTHING against Americans of any colour, creed, political persuasion or whatever. I have ABSOLUTELY NOTHING against the way that you speak the language. By making the reference in my previous posting, I intended ABSOLUTELY NOTHING detrimental, to you, or any of your countrymen. Are we clear on that one now ?

Here are the pictures. They are about 100k each now, and I make no apology for that. If that is still too much to force down your piece of wet string in less than an hour, that's not my problem.

Hope you all find it worth it. If any of this makes me not, "one of the good guys", then I hesitate to think what you must make of some of the ones that we get on here sometimes, who really aren't, and make a point of being genuinely offensive ...

http://www.nbndesign.com/stuff/Wirewrap1%20end%20result_320x240.jpg

http://www.nbndesign.com/stuff/Wirewrap2%20first%20turn_320x240.jpg

http://www.nbndesign.com/stuff/Wirewrap3%20all%20turns%20in%20place_320x240.jpg

http://www.nbndesign.com/stuff/Wirewrap4%20loop%20fed%20thru_320x240.jpg

http://www.nbndesign.com/stuff/Wirewrap5%20loop%20pulled%20over_320x240.jpg

http://www.nbndesign.com/stuff/Wirewrap6%20endgame_320x240.jpg

Arfa

.