Boy oh boy. You really do have a jaundiced view don't you ? You really just can't help yourself. You make a rational (in your mind) post, and then go and throw that remark in. It has no justification whatsoever, given that I went to the trouble of stating that the owner was in no way displeased with his purchase.

What does whether the customer likes or dislikes the product have to do with its quality? You brought up the point.

As for my rationality... Feel free (seriously) to attack my points, one by one. You're going to have a hard time contra-dicting them.
