OK, so I know it would be cheaper to just buy a new one but I like the challenge... and I just bought a pack of 7 replacement brushes...

At Costco, right? Their regular price is quite low, and they had a $5 off coupon.

This model charges a rechargeable battery inductively and is sealed up tighter than a ... (supply your own metaphor).

Crab's behind.

Given the "slots" on the bottom, my gut feeling is that the end cap unscrews. The worse that could happen is that you'll wreck it trying to unscrew it.

I realize there is a legitimate need to make devices of this type watertight, but this is a situation where there ought to be government regulations. I don't like throwing away something that could be reused ("reduce, reuse, recycle") by replacing the battery.
