

TV + CIA = Mass Mind Control

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.energy.hydrogen/2005-01/0300.html>

knews4u2chew_at_yahoo.com

Date: 01/18/05

Date: 17 Jan 2005 21:43:53 -0800

Krusty wrote:

> knews4u2chew = silly little boy + small penis

>

Well, we know who you work for, loser.

>

> <knews4u2chew@yahoo.com> wrote in message

> news:1106023489.026092.154570@z14g2000cwz.googlegroups.com...

> > <http://www.rense.com/general61/tvv.htm>

> >

> > <snip>

> > The presidential election was a great success for our government, > > because most of the fools still think the outcome had something to do > > with voting. They've already returned to their television sets for > > further training, so the fact that they have no money or freedom and > > their children are being sent to die will soon make perfect sense

to

> > them.

> >

> > It's all very easy once you're in control of the news. Goebbels knew > > that if you could CONTROL THE INFORMATION that's available to a > > population, you could CONTROL THE MIND OF A NATION, and this lesson > > from Nazi Germany has been perfected in America today.

> >

> > On January 14,1983, President Reagan signed "National Security

Decision

> > Directive No. 77," and this formally began the process of our > > government taking control of the news media, with the help of the > > friendly folks at the CIA. Their program of "perception management" was > > designed to shape the opinions of Americans on all issues, and I > > personally believe they did an excellent job.

> >

> > They've convinced us to give up our freedom, our wealth, and even our > > children. They've convinced us there is safety and security in being > > unarmed and defenseless, and they've even convinced us that tax cuts > > for the rich benefit the poor. When the ruling elite finds someone who > > can make these absurd statements without laughing, he becomes our president.

> >

> > They've convinced us to work harder for longer hours and less money, > > and soon after they hi-jacked the women's liberation movement, the > > women were working too. The benefits of doubling the work force are > > obvious, but what's a little harder to understand is why a group of > > people who never had to work in the past believe that they've been

> > "liberated" since they do.

> >

> > Some women will tell you they choose to work, but they can't tell you > > why the women of the previous generation chose not to. Some women admit > > that they have to work, without ever questioning why the women of the > > previous generation didn't.

> >

> > If they tried to force any of these changes upon our society they would > > be met with rebellion, so instead, they used the power of television to > > induce us to demand these changes.

> >

> > With the average American spending four hours per day staring into the > > television, there exists a tool for social change and mind control that > > our government would be silly to ignore. Just as the television can > > bring clothing, music, games, and people in and out of fashion, the > > same can be done with a particular way of thinking.

> >

> > Americans stare into the television endlessly, without ever knowing the > > effect it has on their opinions, their personality, or their lifestyle.

> > They've stopped interacting with their community, their neighbors, and > > even their own families, in favor of spending most of their time in > > imaginary interaction with fictitious characters on TV. These > > television characters now give us the lessons in morals, ethics, and

> >

> > values which in the past we had always received from other members of > > our community.

> >

> > Americans rarely engage in moral or political debate anymore, because > > the last word is always left to a television "expert." The people on > > television have become our community, and in doing so, they have > > replaced a vital part of human society that's as old as humanity > > itself. Instead of hearing everyone's opinion a matter, and debating

> > within our community until a sensible agreement is reached, we now > > watch the managed debates of the television, and the managed dissenting

> > opinions, and we choose between them.

> >

> > Real dissent is pretended not to exist. It's ignored like an

obnoxious

> > child.

> > <snip>

> >