

Re: US gasoline: ridiculously cheap

Re: US gasoline: ridiculously cheap

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.energy/2007-05/msg00114.html>

- From: BradGuth <bradguth@xxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: 26 May 2007 19:57:25 -0700
-

On May 26, 3:59 am, xnich...@xxxxxxxxxxxx wrote:

Weekly Retail Premium Gasoline Prices (Including Taxes)
(U.S. Dollars per Gallon)

Belgium $ 6.77
France $6.72
Germany $7.08
Italy $6.73
Netherlands $7.75
UK $7.12
US $3.28

<http://www.eia.doe.gov/emeu/international/gas1.html>

I'd like to see $10/gallon by the end of this next decade. Do you think we can accomplish that, along with most everything else inflated to match?

I'd like to start off with an extra 10% excise tax upon whatever's of fuel or per equal unit of whatever end-user hydroelectric or nuclear derived energy. Got any problem with that?

BTW; I've already got that loot spent.

—

Brad Guth

.