

Re: Worlds largest solar power plant being built in Eastern Germany

Re: Worlds largest solar power plant being built in Eastern Germany

---

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.energy/2007-06/msg00122.html>

---

- From: Alex Terrell <alexterrell@xxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Mon, 18 Jun 2007 12:34:37 -0700
-

On 18 Jun, 07:49, xnich...@xxxxxxxxxxxx wrote:

This is a link to a press release about the Waldpolenz Solar Park, in Saxony, Eastern Germany due to be completed in 2009.

Not very sunny Germany is the world leader in developing solar power, having overtaking Japan as the largest manufacturer of PV cells.

The sector is expected to employ 90,000 people soon.

http://www.juwi.de/international/information/press/PR\_Solar\_Power\_Pla...

Surely it would make more sense to build it in a Spanish desert?

.