

Re: Electric Vehicles saved from the shredder

Re: Electric Vehicles saved from the shredder

Source: <http://sci.tech--archive.net/Archive/sci.energy/2008-06/msg00178.html>

- From: Sevenhundred Elves <sevenhundred@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Fri, 06 Jun 2008 08:36:48 +0200
-

On Tue, 03 Jun 2008 13:55:44 +0100, Eeyore
<rabbitsfriendsandrelations@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote:

DB wrote:

Rob Dekker wrote:

"Eeyore" <rabbitsfriendsandrelations@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote
in message

Rob Dekker wrote:

There were a few of these
EVs that survived this
'genocide' of EVs.

And every single one of them is SHIT.

If you haven't seen "Who Killed the Electric Car" yet, go and rent it
and weep.

Yes, weep at the gullibility of people who thought these were viable cars.

I would have expected a slightly more intelligent answer from you Graham.
Care to elaborate on your judgement call ?

Graham seems to be on a self indulgent usenet trip. Good luck.....

Re: Electric Vehicles saved from the shredder

You're just a clueless idiot who believes in fairy tales.

I'm a design engineer who deals in the do-able.

That's where the difference lies sunshine.

Grahama

But lately you really have displayed a terrible temper and no patience at all with the ignorant and the deluded. Usenet was always like this, the change is with you. I sincerely hope that if there is something bothering you IRL, it will soon be amended. Perhaps you need some time off usenet? I've frequently found that it does me a world of good to just forget about usenet from time to time, especially when I notice I may be on the brink of getting into a fit of anger over some post, or even over that brink.

Speaking as a friend,

S.

.