I think it must be something to do with republics yaknow?

You got trouble in the states, and they've got trouble in France, and things are a bit iffy in Germany too.

We had a republic once yaknow, and we had the sense to realise it was a fuck-up after only 17 years. If you are going to have a King, it is better to have a real King who knows things like etiquette, and you might see what I mean, because our future King is in San Francisco right now. When you get some *working* *class* *upstart* who thinks he is a king, the power goes to his head and he goes crazy and thinks he can do as he likes. I'm so glad we have a real queen who knows how to behave and keeps Bliar in his place. He is so utterly *working* *class* yaknow.
