

Re: OT: Severe storm images

Source: <http://sci.tech--archive.net/Archive/sci.geo.geology/2006-01/msg00060.html>

- From: "George" <george@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Thu, 05 Jan 2006 07:18:28 GMT
-

"Belba Grubb From Stock" <barbb@xxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
news:11rp6b58qe28jf3@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

> George wrote:

>

> <snip>

>

>> Yes. Go ahead, but I can't guarantee how long I'll keep them up.

>

> Posted at <http://www.talkweather.com/forum/viewtopic.php?p=318214#318214>

>

> Note what I mentioned about your hearing the freight-train sound and the > wind picking up. You had a closer call there than you knew. It happens > that way sometimes. Tornadoes do not wait for the siren to announce > them; they have their own agendas.

Oh I know that I was close. The damage wasn't more that a couple of miles away. I've heard the sound a couple of times before, but this one, I think because of the hail, was much louder.

> I've only heard the sound once, during the outbreak we had here on April > 30 last year, when in retrospect a funnel cloud that had been on the > ground previously (because it splattered 'green hail' all over the west > side of my house that didn't come from the local vegetation) passed by > the NW corner of my house at 4:30 a.m. Heckuva way to be woken up but we > had no damage here, though the neighbors on either side of me did get a > little bit. It does sound like a freight train, but this one also had a > similarity to a conveyor belt. Of course, I wasn't in my most objective > frame of mind just then (BG).

>

<snip>

> Ah, springtime in the South. But wait, it's only January, isn't it.
> (Shrugs shoulders) Folks who haven't been here in the springtime have to > take it on faith that the rewards more than compensate for the occasional > moments of sheer terror.

>

> Thanks again, George, and keep yer feet on the ground there.

>
> Barb

De nada. Will do.

George

-
- Follow-Ups:
 - ◆ Re: OT: Severe storm images
 - ◇ From: Belba Grubb From Stock

 - References:
 - ◆ OT: Severe storm images
 - ◇ From: George
 - ◆ Re: OT: Severe storm images
 - ◇ From: Belba Grubb From Stock
 - ◆ Re: OT: Severe storm images
 - ◇ From: George
 - ◆ Re: OT: Severe storm images
 - ◇ From: Belba Grubb From Stock

 - Prev by Date: Re: OT: Severe storm images
 - Next by Date: Re: Experts split over quake risk
 - Previous by thread: Re: OT: Severe storm images
 - Next by thread: Re: OT: Severe storm images
 - Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread