From the article:

Hansen, speaking in a panel discussion about science and the environment before a packed audience at the New School university, said that while he hopes his own agency will soon adopt a more open policy, NOAA insists on having "a minder" monitor its scientists when they discuss their findings with journalists.

"It seems more like Nazi Germany or the Soviet Union than the United States," said Hansen,

Yes, it's exactly like Nazi Germany or the Soviet Union. No doubt Mr. Hansen will soon be marched off to the gulag, or summarily executed with a pistol shot to the head and buried in an unmarked grave with Amerika's masterplan is to force GM food on the world.

Relevant part reads:

Within hours of the WTO decision, José Bové, the French farmer who has led European protests, arrived in New York to give an invited talk to Cornell students about GM food – and was immediately sent back to France by the US government.

was immediately sent back to France by the US government.

was immediately sent back to France by the US government.

Do not question! Obey! You will be assimilated!

"French farmer who has led European protests." lol! Talk about whitewashing somebody's past and agenda.

I'm quite pleased to hear that he was actually caught trying to enter the country and was immediately sent back. Maybe he and Cat Stevens can meet for lunch and commiserate over a Roquefort sandwich.

Well, at least you could be sure they won't shoot each other, like Cheney and his friends.

I found a *real* huntsman who made some interesting comments on that.
