I have to ask this, so here goes.

I listened to a guy on syndicated am radio named Chuck Harder about 10 years ago, and they a little later to Art Bell. They both went on and on for about a 2 year span about a program called HAARP. They claimed it was being run by either NASA,DOD or NOAA. Anyway, the point is, the device was suppose to be used for "weather modification" and they were both talking it up about how this was all horrible and we were all going to all die in an instant or something to that effect. I didn't buy into the "in an instant" deal.

What I want to know is : What ever happened to HAARP? I went to the web sites that even the Government presented about the project and it seemed legit at the time but since then , nothing?

I seem to remember it was located in Alaska and was poorly funded and they were begging for more money all the time.

Does anyone here know any INSIDE information about HAARP? Have any good stories or new information about it?

thanks for listening, well reading :-)
