

Re: My car gets 17 MPG

---

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.geo.meteorology/2007-09/msg00002.html>

---

- From: Crackles McFarly <IrelandSux@xxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Mon, 03 Sep 2007 23:56:58 -0400
-

On Wed, 22 Aug 2007 06:02:31 -0800, David <ricketts@xxxxxxxx> said the following:

On Tue, 21 Aug 2007 14:29:24 -0400, Crackles McFarly <IrelandSux@xxxxxxxxxxx> wrote:

My car gets 17 MPG and it's a big sedan sized car. I run my A/C nearly 12 months a year. I also only buy the lowest grade of fuel, I want to save money not the environment.

I have no plans of getting another car, but if I do I will still hang on to this one if the gas prices go down again.

My car has about 225 HP, those wind-up toy cars do not and they're super-duper small and very ugly cars.

Imagine hitting the bars and some chick sees your car? Good luck pal.

Me- Interested in my survival and my gaining all the wealth I can while alive. I am NOT alone.

What do you mean by "gaining wealth"? That is one sorry justification for taking up space.

I like money, it buys women and things.

Go save some trees and don't take a bath for 6 months yu hippie!

.