Have a look at http://www.pocketgps.co.uk/menu_reviews.php

I've just bought a TTG, and am pretty impressed – particularly since the latest version can use imported POIs (points of interest) such as speed camera locations, and warn you when you are in the vicinity of one.

It's maps and spoken directions are very good too, but I would like to see a few more user configurable routing options – such as those available in Autoroute.
