Carl, obvious I'm a greenie on all this.. what do you mean that the load routing is grayed out? Is that something built into the 76 or NT? For simplicity and ease would CN be easier than NT..? If the same, how does this 'grayed out' get in the way?

Thanks for taking the time to help educate me..

My other current GPS is a 2720 (replacing a 2610, replacing etc,etc.) It came with CN US NT. I've used my second unlock to load it on the 76Cx. I was able to used CN US on my 76C. Unfortunately, it only had a capacity of 115MB. According to the compatibility table, a Cx will take both CN and CN NT. The difference is that the map segments in NT are quite large. If you get a 1GB or 2GB microSD, that's not a problem. Also, when loading NT, the load routing
