I hope you can shed some light as to gps products are available to monitor and protect children and adults come to that. I am sourcing a unit that allows the user to receive calls from their immediate family and to also make external calls.

I hope you are able to help me.

I think

www.google.com/search?hl=en&lr=&q=%22gps+enabled+cell+phone%22 will give you an idea of breath of products available.

At least it will give you some background to allow a more focused question.
