

sci.image.processing: Re: what is hyperspectral image?

Re: what is hyperspectral image?

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.image.processing/2004-07/0114.html>

From: David Gelbart (gelbart_at_ICSI.Berkeley.EDU)

Date: 07/20/04

Date: Tue, 20 Jul 2004 01:28:46 +0000 (UTC)

IEEE Signal Processing Magazine had a special issue on this in January 2002.

I recommend checking it out.

Here is the Xplore URL for the magazine

<http://ieeexplore.ieee.org/xpl/RecentIssue.jsp?puNumber=79>

In article <cdh97d$g71$1@news.Stanford.EDU>, gino <mizhael@yahoo.com> wrote:

>Dear folks,

>

>I have heard of a lot buzz about "hyperspectral" image... I did some >googling and did find some researches on this, but I am still not able to >figure out what's it and what's the use of it...

>

>Anybody gives me some pointers?

>

>Thanks a lot,

>

>-Gino

>

>