I am a newbie to this group, and I have a question about something that happened on CNN today. My question is not a joke.

Matt Drudge reported today that CNN inadvertently displayed a huge X over the face of VP Cheney when he made a speech today.

Does anyone else see black text superimposed over the bottom of the screen? There is something on top of the words "it is wrong to criticize" There is more at the right on top of the Live Today logo.

Is there any way to pull out what the black text says, if any?

Just wondering

Tim
